Health Informatics Centre	Medical AI, Drug Discovery, Remote Health	5 faculty	5 projects
VLSI & Semiconductor Lab	Chip Design, RF Circuits, Photonics	7 faculty	6 projects

4. Patent & Publication Policy

4.1 University Patent Policy

Any invention arising from research conducted using university resources, facilities, or funding is jointly owned by the inventor(s) and Nexora University. Revenue from commercialised patents is shared as: 60% inventor(s), 25% department, 15% university.

Stage	Nexora Role	Inventor Share	Timeline
Invention Disclosure	University evaluates IP potential	Full rights to inventor initially	Within 30 days of disclosure
Patent Filing	University funds Indian patent filing	60% inventor, 40% university	6–12 months
International Patent	University + DST/BIRAC funding	60% inventor, 40% university	12–24 months after Indian
Commercialisation	Technology Transfer Office handles licensing	60% inventor, 40% university	Post-grant

5. NEXHUB – Startup Incubation Centre

5.1 About NEXHUB

NEXHUB is Nexora's flagship entrepreneurship incubation centre established in 2019 with MSME and DPIIT recognition. It has incubated 47 startups, of which 12 are funded (total funding raised: ₹38 crore).

5.2 NEXHUB Support Services

- Free workspace (desks, meeting rooms, high-speed internet) for 12 months
- Seed funding of up to ₹5 lakh from NEXHUB Innovation Fund
- Access to ₹50 lakh MSME grant linkages and DST NIDHI scheme
- Mentorship from 80+ active entrepreneurs, VCs, and CXOs
- Legal, IP, accounting, and incorporation support
- Industry connections, pilot programme facilitation
- Annual NEXHUB Demo Day: pitch to 100+ investors

Frequently Asked Questions (FAQ)

Q: Can undergraduate students apply for NEXHUB incubation?

A: Yes, students from 2nd year onwards are eligible. A faculty mentor must co-sign the application. Selected teams get a 6-month pre-incubation track before full incubation.

Q: Is the research stipend taxable?

A: JRF/SRF stipends are exempt from income tax as per CBDT circular. However, industry-sponsored fellowships above ₹7 lakh/year may be taxable. Students are advised to consult the Finance Office.
